

UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTHERN CARIBBEAN HUMAN RESOURCES DEPARTMENT

UNIVERSITY STUDENT RESOURCE CENTRE (USRC)
STUDENT WORK/STUDY SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMME POLICY

PHILOSOPHY

The University of the Southern Caribbean (USC) believes that the principle of working originated at creation and is inseparable from man's holistic development. It is designed to occupy the mind, strengthen the body and provide the physical necessities of life, as well as enhance the spiritual relationship with the Creator. As such, the true joy in life is found by the working man and woman. (Patriarch & Prophets, p. 46)

MISSION STATEMENT

The student work/study scholarship programme seeks to create opportunities for students to engage in meaningful work within available departments and industries at the University of the Southern Caribbean. This programme will cater not only to the development of marketable skills and a Christian work ethic, but also, through a credit system, provide limited financial assistance towards the students' education.

KEY ISSUES

- 1) The funding of the student work/study scholarship will be within the budgetary constraints of the University.
- 2) Heads of each Department/Division will need to build the cost for the student work/study scholarship within their annual budgets. These budget items will however be combined and managed through the USRC.
- 3) Employment Laws:- In accordance with the Minimum Wages Order 2014- Legal Notice 148 [Part 11] with effective date of January 1, 2015, made by the Minister Labour under section 3 of the Minimum Wages Act, the Minimum Wages Act/Order does not apply to Trainees and Student Workers.
- 4) Notwithstanding, that the Minimum Wages Act does not apply to Trainees and Student Workers, as a S.D.A. Christian Institution, contributions towards the student's finance account should take into account the rigors of the work-study program in which the student is engaged and the time commitment of the specific assignment.
- 5) Since work assignments within the University Student Resource Centre is a part of the official training of students, local, regional and international students can participate in the program.

CRITICAL SUCCESS FACTORS

- Departments budgeting for student labor annually and this budget being managed through the USRC.
- Transparent purposes and processes for admitting students to the program.
- A structured system of supervision that allows students to fulfil the objectives of the program.
- A structured method for Departments/Divisions to submit their student labor needs.
- A program monitoring and evaluation system that ensures the program is operated in a cost efficient manner and allows for return on investments.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE WORK/STUDY PROGRAMME

This programme reflects a unified vision of labour that is student and learning centred. The programme is designed to be both competency based and credit based. Student employment is provided to students on a part-time basis. The USRC or designated officer provides general oversight for all work areas to ensure consistency of administration; and training and assessment. Department Heads can assign labour mentors/supervisors to be directly in charge of student training and development; and can vary in the nature of work performed, method of supervision and degree of autonomy.

A student will have the opportunity through the work/study scholarship programme to develop his/her competencies as well as earn credits and income to assist in his/her expenses to the University. It is expected that a student who fulfils a work/study scholarship programme at the University establishes a lifestyle of doing and thinking, action and reflection, as well as service and learning, during and after completion of study, and within the broader community.

ROLE OF DEPARTMENT HEADS/LABOUR SUPERVISORS

- 1) Department Heads must complete the Vacancy Request Form to request a student worker and submit the form to the USRC. All recruiting must be done by the USRC. Department personnel may make recommendations but should not hire student workers for their departments.

- 3) Participate in an annual seminar hosted by the USRC for Department Heads and assigned labour mentors/supervisors.
- 4) Ensure that all student workers attend the general meeting that is scheduled for each semester.
- 5) Department Heads must submit Monthly Time Sheets and Student Labour Reports using the prescribed form, to the USRC by the fifth day of each month to the USRC.
- 6) Department Heads/Supervisors must evaluate students at the end of the probation period, and at the end each semester. A final evaluation must be done at the end of the student's employment at the university or when a student is released from duty, for record keeping purposes and preparation of recommendations.
- 7) Labour mentors/supervisors must work with student to develop a schedule that provides the hours needed to meet the weekly hour target.
- 8) Department Heads must ensure that all OSHA requirements are in place for the protection of the student worker.

At the end of the probation period the student's performance will be reviewed and one of the following will be decided.

- 1) Whether the student has performed satisfactorily. Where the performance is satisfactory, the student will be given continued student labour employment in the assigned department upon the recommendation of the supervisor.
- 2) Whether the probationary period should be extended in order to more fully assess the student. The student will be provided with the necessary feedback and assistance in developing the specific core competences.
- 3) Whether, due to gravely unsatisfactory performance the student will be asked to withdraw.

Subsequent performance evaluations will be done at the end of each semester and at the end of the last semester of the student's employment or whenever a student is released from a department.

The performance evaluation is geared towards identifying strengths and weaknesses in the student's performance, providing feedback to the student by the Department Head/labour mentor, strengthen supervisor/student relations, and clarify job expectations.

The USRC in consultation with the Department Head reserves the right to terminate any student at any time due to consistent unsatisfactory work performance or violations of the work/study policies by established disciplinary action process.

The original evaluation instrument must be forwarded to the USRC by the required deadline date and a copy retained by the Department Head for the files. STUDENT WORKER GRIEVANCE

Informal grievance

A student with a labour-related problem should first discuss this situation with the supervisor. Most difficulties can be handled at this level. It is hoped that the student worker's concerns can be resolved through direct and open communication between the supervisor and the student worker. If the issues cannot be resolved at this level, the next step is to discuss the concern with the Head of the Department. If the issue is unresolved, the next step is to contact the USRC for intervention and mediation.

Formal grievance

If the informal route does not resolve the grievance of the student worker, a formal grievance can be made by presenting the complaint in writing to the USRC. The USRC may request written responses from the other parties involved. Normally within one week of meeting with the grieving parties and no more than three weeks from the time the written complaint is received, the Officer of the USRC will write a report of findings and conclusions and submit to all concerned. If any of the parties to the grievance appeals the decision, the USRC Grievance Committee will convene a meeting, normally within one week of the appeal, or as soon as possible.

DISCIPLINARY ACTION

Disciplinary action may be taken against a student worker for subpar performance, workplace misconduct, attendance and other undesirable behaviours.

In the event that disciplinary action becomes necessary, the USRC will proceed with the following progressive disciplinary steps:

The Student Disciplinary Action Form is to be used in the discipline process. It is not appropriate to release a student without prior discussion with the student and USRC and documentation of performance or other issues with the potential to result in disciplinary action.

Ideally, this documentation and discussion approach will enhance student performance so that no further measures are needed. Where there is no improvement in performance or conduct after discussion and documentation, a supervisor, in consultation with USCR, may elect to place a student on an internal departmental probation for a period not exceeding two months.

Student performance concerns must be documented and discussed with the student with the aim of assisting the student to take corrective actions and to experience overall improvement in conduct and performance.

A student cannot receive any type of department probationary status or release without using the Student Disciplinary Action Form. This process serves three primary purposes: 1) It provides an opportunity to reaffirm departmental expectations. 2) It draws attention to the issue in the interest of improving performance. 3) It provides a clear history for others in the event that further disciplinary action is required. Students should be given an opportunity to address performance concerns in a realistic fashion. Therefore, the supervisor should utilize the following process:

First Warning

Note the date and time of the infraction along with the location. Provide a description of the infraction and corrective actions to be taken to alleviate future incidents. Meet with the student and discuss the issue. As the supervisor, sign the form. Allow the student to either agree or disagree with write up and sign the form.

As part of their learning experience, students should be encouraged to process their actions and think of actions that they can take to enhance their performance.

Second Warning

Note that this is a second warning. Note the date and time of the infraction along with the location. Provide a description and corrective actions to be taken to alleviate future incidents. Meet with the student and discuss the issue. Inform the student that further breach may lead to termination of the Student labour assignment. As the supervisor, sign the form. Allow the student to either agree or disagree with write up and sign the form.

Third and Final Infraction

Note that this is the third and final warning. Note the date and time of the infraction along with the location. Decide from the options below, the corrective action to take. Meet with the student and discuss the issue. As the supervisor, sign the form. Allow the student to either agree or disagree with, write up and sign the form. If a release is selected, a Student Position Adjustment/Labour Release Form within Current Department is required along with a copy of the Student Disciplinary Action Form. All forms are to be submitted to the USRC.

Departmental Probation (This disciplinary action must be taken when the supervisor decides to allow the student to continue working in the department and shall be for a maximum of two months). The supervisor will be required to develop an Accountability Agreement outlining specific expectations. If a student disregards the accountability agreement, further disciplinary actions will be taken at the discretion of the USRC which may involve a departmental release, labor probation and/or labor suspension.

Departmental Release (This disciplinary action is taken when the supervisor believes all attempts have been made to assist the student has shown little or no improvement and fails to meet expectations in his/her present labor assignment.

The USRC retains the right to reassign the student to the area of greatest need when a release occurs based on non-performance issues; contingent on the student having the willingness and capabilities to function in the established area of need. If a prior accountability agreement was developed, it should be attached along with the Student Position Adjustment/Labour Release Form within Current Department Form.

Where an accountability Agreement was not previously developed, one should be prepared for the new assignment area.

The release of any freshman requires approval from the USRC.
